Feminist Centre for Racial Justice
Call for transnational research project proposals

The Feminist Centre for Racial Justice is looking to support five, eighteen-month transnational research projects. These five projects will explore and resist intersectional problematics of race in relation to one of the call's six core themes. The aim of this collaboration is to develop transnational relationships and shared knowledge, leading to the expansion of feminist, decolonial, and Indigenous strategies supporting self-determination and liberation.

To submit a project proposal, you need to complete this form.

As well as this form, you will also need to submit the following supporting documents to the FCRJ, by email:

- CVs of all named project collaborators
- Organisational endorsement letters where relevant
- Detailed budget using the template

Further instructions on how to submit supporting documents will be provided at the end of this form.

Please be reminded of the FCRJ's selection criteria below:

- Feasibility and capacity – is the proposed project realistically achievable within the timeframe and with the resources proposed?
- Relevance and compatibility – is the proposed project relevant to one of the four themes in the research call? Does it align with the approach and aims of the Feminist Centre for Racial Justice?
- Significance and originality – does the proposed project identify and respond to existing gaps in knowledge and capacity in relation to a particular area of feminist racial justice?

Application deadline: Monday 11th December 23:59 (GMT)

* Obligatoire

Overview of core team and contact details

1. Names of project co-leader and institutional/group affiliation, if relevant here (1) *

Enter the names of both project co-leads and their relevant affiliations here. For example, 'Gina Knight - SOAS, University of London'.

[   ]

2. Contact email address (1) *

Enter the email addresses for both project co-leads named above.

[   ]

3. Name of project co-leader and institutional/group affiliation, if relevant (2) *

Enter the names of both project co-leads and their relevant affiliations here. For example, 'Gina Knight - SOAS, University of London'.

4. Please provide a list of other core team members, their affiliations, and roles in the proposed project (if relevant)

Please be reminded that you will need to submit the CVs of all named collaborators, including the project leads, alongside this form.

Project proposal

5. What is the title of your project? *

[   ]

6. Where will the proposed project take place? *

Enter the geographical location of the project.

[   ]

7. Total budget requested from the FCRJ *

Please be reminded that you will need to submit a full budget breakdown as a supporting document. Further information on how to do this will be provided at the end of this form.

[   ]

8. Project outline and description (up to 500 words) *

This section should describe the format and nature of the project. It should demonstrate its relevance to one of the five core themes presented in the call:

- Reparations: resisting historical and contemporary injustices through decolonial feminism
- Migrant domestic workers in the Arab Region
- Anti-Blackness and health inequalities in Europe
- Black, feminist, and Indigenous ecologies
- Queer movements and LGBTQIA+ justice across Lusophone Africa

[   ]

9. Background and motivation to the project (including theoretical framework and existing research that informs the work) (up to 500 words) *

This section should detail the context out of which the project proposal emerges and detail the appropriateness of the selected individuals/groups to deliver it.

[   ]

10. Methods (up to 500 words) *

This section should detail the methods that the project will use.

[   ]

11. Expected outcomes of the project (up to 500 words) *

This section should detail the specific outcomes that the project will deliver, including the expected deliverables detailed in the call for project proposals.

12. Proposed timeline *

This section should give a concrete timeline for the delivery of the project.

Supporting documents

To complete your application, there are several supporting documents which you will be required to submit via email to fcrj@soas.ac.uk. Please ensure that you include your project title in the body of your email.

The required documents are:

- CVs of all named project collaborators
- Organisational endorsement letters where relevant
- Detailed budget using the template from the call for applications

The budget should be as detailed as possible, listing and justifying all the resources indicated for the proposed project. Budget can be requested for travel costs, equipment, room hire, and communications as essential costs to the proposed project. If other costs are deemed essential to the proposed project, this should be indicated and justified in the budget template. The FCRJ may request additional information about the proposed budget.

13. Supporting documents should be submitted in PDF or Word format via email. The documents should be written in English and use font size 12pt. *

   ○   I will submit my supporting documents to fcrj@soas.ac.uk within 5 days of completing and submitting this form.